The Technology transition over last few years has transformed the way people can access different kinds of data and information these days. Data access for people with disabilities has become easy, thanks to organizations that accommodate this in their engineering efforts; however globally we still have a long way to go. PDF document is considered as accessible only if it meets the accessibility guidelines of WCAG 2.0QA InfoTech helps several organizations bring in accessibility compliance to their files through its extensive accessibility engineering services. With the help of different assistive technologies the PDF is made accessible for the people with disabilities.
