Test-takers proficiency in English can be assessed by the International English Language Testing System (IELTS). Even for native English speakers, this is a challenging exam. It's a requirement if you wish to study in Canada, Australia, the UK, Germany, New Zealand, or Singapore. The International English Language Testing System (IELTS) is a precondition for immigration to English-speaking countries, including Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, and many more. The IELTS test assesses listening, reading, writing, and speaking, which comprises four modules. The IELTS test is given by either the British Council or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS).
