You might be thinking that what is so special about this page? I mean, your question is a valid one since there are so many pages about Kolkata which offer quality content and great visual posts. However we think that what sets us apart is the visual portrayal of emotions, the current society and most importantly: human empowerment. Yes, you heard it right, HUMAN EMPOWERMENT! Its not women or men or transgender empowerment. we believe that for gender equality we must first start to address all genders are equal. Sexuality is a personal affair just like religion. Kolkata is secular where all religions exist in harmony, so why not every gender? Through our posts we try to reach out to as many people we can so that they can understand that perhaps our smallest of actions are heavily affecting someone’s life.
