We Believe that School should be a place where a child can experience love and respect as well as intellectual stimulation. Thus, when we consider the education of a child we should view the process as both social and intellectual – after all, what a child feels influences his or her desire to learn. Although we offer a sound curriculum at Children’s Garden, our primary concern is the child’s emotional and social development. Our focus will be to support the children as they build a solid foundation on which to grow. We will foster independence and self-confidence, cooperation, respect, and over-all social awareness of the world around them.
