CueKids was initiated by us at Simply Body Talk, a company specializing in the niche area of nonverbal communication since 2013. Looking up the latest research and competitor offerings showed our content team something startling about kids and nonverbal behavior. At CueKids we take a holistic approach of teaching kids to focus on the entire body language rather than just facial expressions. This helps them understand other people better and improve their own communication skills. Please visit <https://cuekids.in/>
