From local to national, we engage the country to tell its stories. Over the years, Raj Express has brought together a strong and an independent team of young journalists who are focused on unearthing news stories along with expert editors who have profound knowledge of the industry and are known for their quality, innovation and integrity. This has helped us create a powerful network of brands and capabilities that position us well to ensure and preserve the future of independent journalism. With deep roots in cities and districts across India, our news media brings a long standing history of investing in journalism.

With the love and support of our readers, we have and will always strive to provide a worthwhile space to read, listen, watch and discuss about the issues of the day. We have and will always try to be at the forefront of emerging new technologies. Even though, we do not know now, what future truly holds for us. But, we do know and will always know what questions to ask, and Raj Express is well placed to do so: because of our progressive perspective and because of our ability to deliver high-quality journalism, rooted in the facts.

Today, Raj Express has emerged as a trusted news organisation and a modern media platform that is continuously pushing the boundaries of what content is, how it's perceived and experienced. We truly believe that our readers attention is not a commodity for any kind of exploitation or sale. We try to be as factual as possible, as we understand that our readers want and need information they can trust.
