V5 Global is also one of the first retail marketing companies in India to develop an in-house app called Infield. Infield is the digital solution to all of your retail marketing needs. It has a dedicated merchandising module and uses digitized workflow to smoothen out the process. Not only does it make data collection easy, but it also makes comprehensive reports to provide deep insights into the revenue and helps in future business planning. With features like photo capture and documentation of deployed visual merchandise, geo-location, time stamps, real-time reports, and visibility, Insight is meticulously made to service store and retail owners.
