Tadalafil 5 mg contains the active ingredient Tadalafil, which is a phosphodiesterase type 5 (PDE5) inhibitor. It is used to treat erectile dysfunction in men. Erectile dysfunction is a condition in which a man has difficulty achieving or maintaining an erection sufficient for sexual activity. Tadalafil, by inhibiting the PDE5 enzyme, enhances blood flow to the penis during sexual stimulation, allowing for improved erectile function. Tadalafil 5 mg is usually prescribed for daily use, regardless of sexual activity, in the treatment of both erectile dysfunction and BPH. It provides continuous support for erectile function and may help improve urinary symptoms related to BPH over time.
