A risk management certification in India is a professional qualification that validates an individual's expertise in identifying, assessing, and managing risks within various industries and organizations. This certification demonstrates the individual's understanding of risk management concepts, methodologies, and best practices, as well as their ability to apply them effectively in real-world scenarios. In India, risk management certifications are offered by several renowned international and national organizations, such as the Project Management Institute (PMI), the Institute of Risk Management (IRM), the Global Association of Risk Professionals (GARP), and the National Institute of Securities Markets (NISM), among others.
